I left Monsanto/GI in 1986 after working 17 years with the ESP group (started in 1968). I worked at III-V Systems in Tempe for two years before joining Siemens Opto in 1988. I managed the Optocoupler business unit growing it from less than $5M/annum to over $90M/annum in 1999. I became the BU VP in 1999 up until the time the unit was sold to Vishay, Inc in 2001. After a short time with Vishay I working at a telecom laser start-up for a year and spent another year at SunPower running their Photo Diode business. I retired in 2004. However when OptoElectronix moved into LED lighting products I joined them for three years (07 to 10) in a part-time capacity as the Product Marketing Manager.

Our two kids are married and each have two children and we are enjoying the grandkids. Lorene does volunteer work at Stanford Hospital. I maintain our house and yard, ride a road bike 60 miles per week and spend much time playing the trumpet in various bands including a symphonic band and three jazz bands. I am a co-founder of the LGS Big Band.
