In 1983, I joined Fujitsu Computer Products as Director of Distributor Sales for the Printer Division. I left Fujitsu in 1988 for a couple of start-up opportunities that failed. In 1991 I changed careers to become a self-employed Contract Recruiter/Staffing Consultant, engaging in full-cycle in-house recruiting for many different clients in Silicon Valley, including Tandem Computers, Hal Computer Systems, ATI Research, Lightspeed Logic, Open-Silicon, LSI Logic, Extreme Networks, FormFactor and International Game Technology. This has been a very rewarding experience.

Carole and I moved from Santa Clara to El Dorado Hills in 2005. I continued to work in Silicon Valley during the week and spent my weekends at home. We moved to Cameron Park in September 2010. Carole is a retired Staffing Consultant, and I still work at recruiting from home. We are very busy visiting family (8 "children", including 6 with spouses and 2 singles, and 18 grand children) and celebrating many birthdays and different events throughout the year. Carole loves to work in the garden and work on home improvements. I enjoy playing my 12 string guitar and singing as much as possible.
