

VIRGINIA DELPH

April 12, 2012

After leaving Monsanto in early April 1975 for the birth of my second child, Carolyn (now 37 yrs. old), I opted not to return to work despite being guaranteed a position in the bookkeeping department.

We left Palo Alto for Oak Ridge, Tennessee in 1976. The following May, Elizabeth, child #3, was born. Less than two years later we moved to Bethlehem, Pa., where my husband Terry began a 32-year career as a professor at Lehigh University. (He retired last year.)

In 1982 I accepted a job as a Latin/German teacher at a public high school in the area. Just three years ago I retired after a 27-year career as a classroom teacher. (A far cry from expediting orders in customer service at Monsanto!).

Now I spend time in retirement enjoying my five grandkids, gardening, biking, doing volunteer work, traveling, and doing part-time work in the Admissions Office of Lehigh admitting (and rejecting) prospective students.
