

Monsanto Co. boosts staffers at Cupertino

Monsanto Co. has announced several promotions among members of the technical staff at its Monsanto Electronic Special Products plant in Cupertino.

Gary M. Catlin, senior research engineer, was named product manager for infrared products.

Michael Bottini, engineering specialist, was promoted to product manager for coupled pairs.

Robert O. Herendeen, research engineer, was named product manager for laser components. Research specialist Eng Hua Lim was appointed product manager for display devices and Robert M. Tobias, manufacturing engineer, was promoted to manufacturing manager for discrete and display products.